

January 09, 2026: On the USA Government Intentionally Intruding in Harmful Ways into My Life

I am recording again that the USA spying network is illegally monitoring the interior of my home to forcefully drive loud noises into my presence at 1:30 am in an intentional attempt to disrupt the peace and dignity of our home life.

The true face of Donald Trump's team is nothing short of absolute obsession with causing harm. There is nothing at all redeemable about Donald Trump and the criminal conspiracy that he is illegally engaging in at this time.

There is literally another very loud vehicle just idling outside the front of our home now. (After driving maniacally around revving its' engine to disturb us as we move about and have normal experiences in our home.) These noises are absolutely, 100%, without any doubt in my mind, directly correlated to a live stream of the interior space of our house.

This is one of many examples throughout every single day and night that is used to constantly reiterate that Donald Trump's team is illegal monitoring us through live video feeds, processing every detail about our home and intentionally attempting to cause us harm with the information that they receive from their spying efforts.

World, Donald Trump is the face of evil and has no business running the United States of America. To be so certain that the USA military were the people that intentionally groomed and selected such an evil monster to rein over the USA is nothing short of knowledge that the USA military has intentionally turned against the people of the United States of America.

USA military, of all branches, do not ever look to me to receive your salutes or thank you's. Look to your evil overlord of money and murder to find your respect. Your team is intentionally attempting to destroy my home and I will never forgive you nor will I ever forget.

Fuck you, Donald Chump - you are the biggest bitch that I ever had the displeasure of encountering in my time on this planet. May the rest of your days be filled with painful reminders of the glory that you lost in your quest to cause harm to your enemies.

Fuck you, old man.